Dear Families

Late opening of school tomorrow Thursday 2nd November 2023

We have made the decision to open late, at 10am tomorrow Thursday 2nd November. We have made this difficult decision due to forecasted very strong winds associated with Storm Ciaran. Several of our small number of staff would be travelling at a time when there are forecast to be potentially very strong wind gusts. We are worried about the potential for electricity lines or trees coming down and debris on the roads.

Obviously the weather may be better or worse than expected – please monitor the school website, your email and text messages for updates.

Best regards

The St Levan School team
